We approach photography with the following - does it help communicate the clients' service or product to the viewer in an impactful and memorable way. A quality photo should draw that viewer in to find out more and eventually to a "call to action." We use our skills as graphic designers to insure those results. We can look at the whole package - headline, body copy, layout and the photo in a effective and cost efficient method.

The city of Elko, NV had plenty of photos of the surrounding high desert nature but none of their historic downtown area. We spent 3 days taking photos, researching old photos in the historical archives and also created a walking tour. 4372ElkoVisitorGuide

At GDS we shoot a wide range of subject matter under varying conditions. Product, portrait, location, studio - you name it - we are up to the challenge. And don't forget we have editing back in the office with our extensive knowledge of photoshop. Make a grey day blue - no problem, new person to added to the staff picture - no problem. Call us for your next image needs.

A factory cabinet maker needed photos of their wide range of styles and wood types. We took photos of their factory floor and then a residential development showcasing their products in Hercules. An all day shoot with 2 photographers accomplished the task. You can see some of the results at garsondesign.com/amwoodworks
